TEACHERS' FEEDBACK
LISTENING	The student is committed to improving his ability to comprehend and understand listening clips. While he generally selects accurate answers, there are instances where he overlooks the instructions and provides incorrect responses. Consequently, it is essential for him to be mindful of the given instructions in order to minimize errors when choosing or writing his answers.
READING	The student can provide more correct responses to sentence completion questions through figuring out the synonyms of the clues; however, answering sentence ending questions is difficult for him due to the presence of various potential options. Therefore, it is advised that he follow the technique starting with matching the sentence structure, then checking whether the meaning of the sentence makes sense and ending with matching the clues with the ones in the passage.
WRITING	The student is able to describe and analyze trends. Also, he is able to use cohesive devices. However, he fails to include reference to the figures given in the graphs, tables, or charts. Thus, the student is encouraged to practice more on referencing, and he should review on past writing activities.
SPEAKING	The student produces basic sentence forms with reasonable accuracy. Furthermore, he can manage to talk about familiar and unfamiliar topics with enough vocabulary to discuss the topics. However, he overuses certain connectors and discourse markers throughout his speech. Thus, it is recommended that he focus on practicing using connectors and discourse markers when speaking. He can use online resources to be more familiar with these speech devices.
